

AT SEA

As night hath stars, more rare than ships
    In ocean, faint from pole to pole,
So all the wonder of her lips
    Hints her innavigable soul.

Such lights she gives as guide my bark ;
    But I am swallowed in the swell
Of her heart's ocean, sagely dark,
    That holds my heaven and holds my hell.

In her I live, a mote minute
    Dancing a moment in the sun :
In her I die, a sterile shoot
    Of nightshade in oblivion.

In her my self dissolves, a grain
    Of salt cast careless in the sea ;
My passion purifies my pain
    To peace past personality.

Love of my life, God grant the years
    Confirm the chris—rose to rood !
Anointing loves, asperging tears
    In sanctifying solitude !

AT SEA

Man is so infinitely small
    In all these stars, determinate.
Maker and moulder of them all,
    Man is so infinitely great!
